ABOUT ME

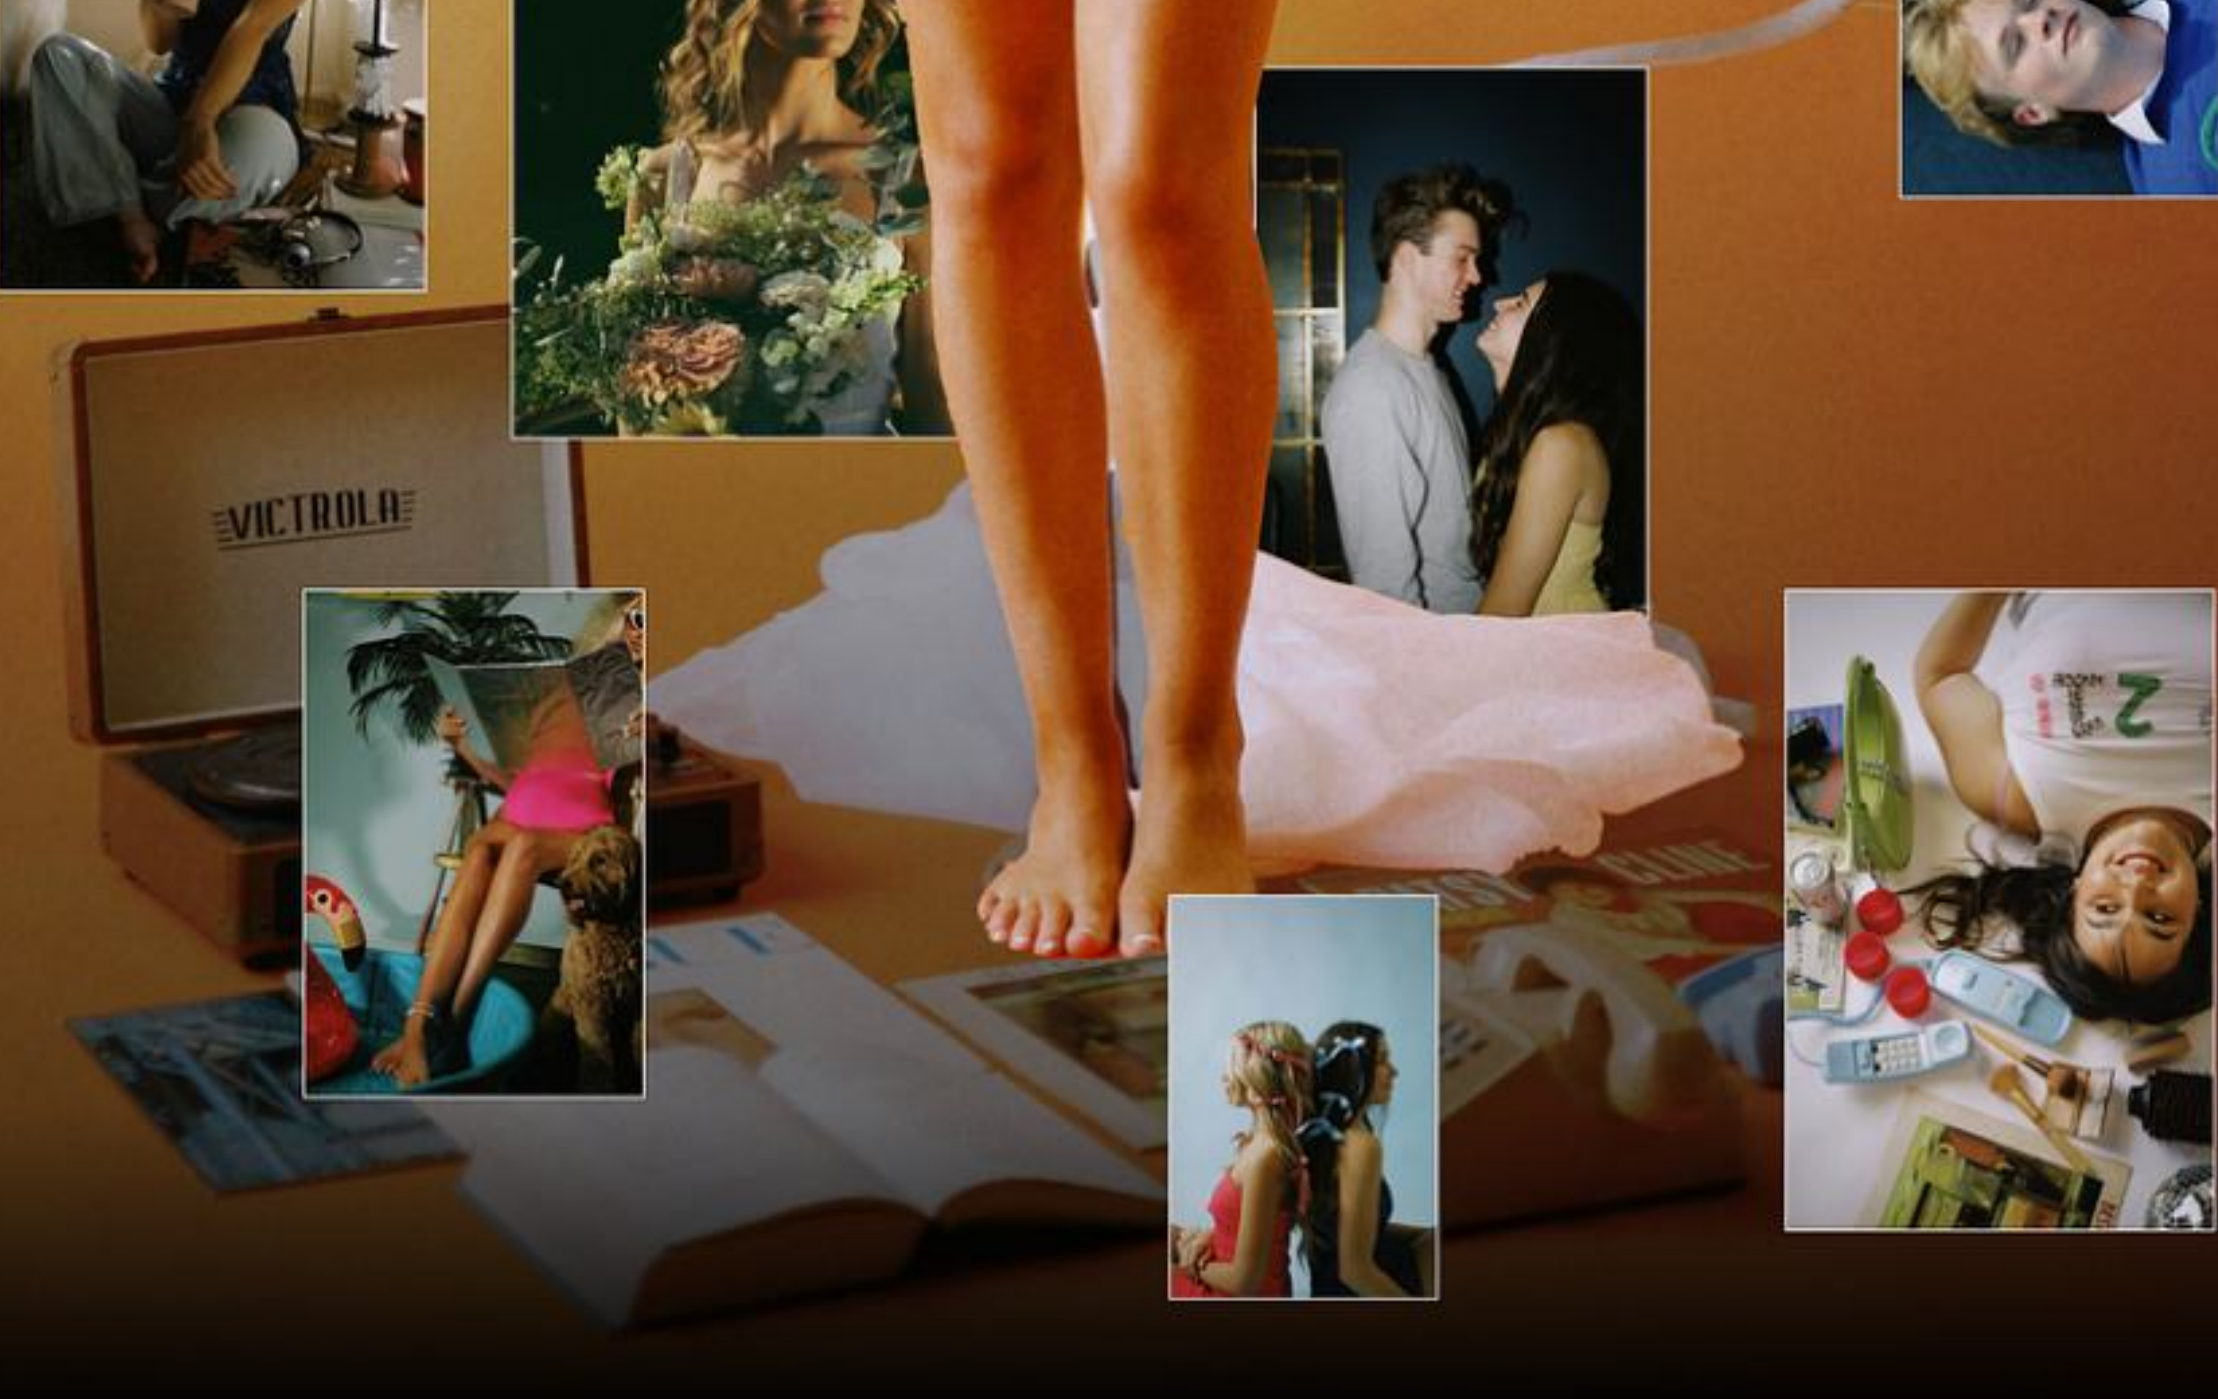

As a photographer and creative director, I combine technical expertise with a passion for visual storytelling. My experience spans the worlds of magazines, studios, and portraiture, allowing me to collaborate with a diverse range of clients and bring their unique visions to life.

Whether crafting a captivating editorial spread for a magazine, creating a dynamic space for product photography, or capturing the essence of a person in a timeless portrait, my goal remains the same: to create meaningful imagery that resonates.

Beyond the technical aspects, I believe in the power of collaboration. I work closely with clients to understand their needs and ensure the final product exceeds their expectations.

We had the privilege of working with Kathryn on a feature story, and we're blown away by her ability to put our subjects at ease and translate their vision into reality is truly remarkable.
